

Mechanisms for improving management efficiency

Avrasya Batumi International University LLC establishes the quality assurance culture through an annual systematic self-assessment and reporting.

Self-assessment and reporting are performed once a year or as necessary. All the structural units and students of the university are involved in the self-assessment process.

The university considers the self-assessment report of the educational programs as an instrument for developing the quality of the learning/teaching and research processes.

Annual reporting is used for assessing the level of learning/teaching and research activities, the level of access to the services and organizational development.

The annual self-assessment of the quality assurance teaching university will reflect: Student survey (analysis); Self-assessment report of the educational programs in accordance with accreditation standards (Analysis based on factual data); Annual report of directions (Analysis); Faculty annual report; Annual reports of structural units (Contents and structure). The Monitoring and Management Efficiency Evaluation Group is created based on the order of Rector of "Avrasya Batumi International University", which is responsible for preparing, evaluating and presenting to the University Quality Assurance Service the current report on the fulfillment of Strategic Development and Action Plan of "Avrasya Batumi International University". The Quality Assurance Service of the university analyzes obtained results and develops the relevant recommendations and submits them to the Rector of the university for the relevant reaction.

Quality Assurance Service shall submit an annual report to the Academic Council until December 5 of each year.
